Ask your druggist for Hood's Sarsaparilla. This great medicine completely eradicates scrofula. It purifies and enriches the blood, removes humors, and builds up the whole system.

Scrofula is either inherited or acquired. Better be sure you are quite free from it. Get Hood's Sarsaparilla and begin taking it today.

MUSICAL NOTES

Society, Musical, Club, or Personal Notes, intended for the Saturday issue should reach The Capital Journal office by 3 o'clock p. m., Friday.

One of the musical events of the future in which a large number of Salem people will be interested is Miss Beatrice Shilton's recital to be given at the Grand Opera house, April 5. Some of Miss Mabel Smith's pupils have been asked to assist, as there are about 100 little people in the cast, which embraces music and dancing, and possibly others of Miss Shilton's former pupils who are now teachers themselves, will "lend" their brightest little musicians. It is not entirely musical however, being in the nature of a play, with a "Tom Thumb Wedding," and several pretty dances, including a minuet, Virginia reel, horn dance and skirt dance. Among those selected for the minuet are Maxine Buren, Helen Corey, Lois Smith, Letha Wilson, Hilda

Tillinghast, Genevieve Howell, Florence Cartwright, Margaret Livesley, Winnifred Gross, Alice McClellan, Eva Miles, Carolyn East, Nellie Tucker, Margaret McMahon.

The manager of the song-poem contest, which the Cherrian club is now holding announces that the requirements are to be enlarged by including verses for the benefit of the entire states instead of a single lyric for the Capital City. In this way it is believed that the newspapers will give more space to the final selection of the song.

A vested choir, to be known as St. Cecilia's, composed of 20 young women, will furnish music tomorrow at the First Congregational church.
